BIGGEST TRUCK USER IN THE WORLD

HE'S THE BIGGEST truck user in the world — the farmer. More than one-third of all the country's engine trucks are on the farms — double the number used in any other industry.

Yes, he's a big truck user—the Canadian farmer.

And the trucks he's using today are old trucks. He's had mighty few new trucks for the last six years.

But what a job the Canadian farmer has done to feed Canada and her allies—in food the world. For years in a row Canadian farmers have broken all previous records of food production.

While thousands of men were gone from farms to war and industry, and with less than one-fourth the new farm machinery of previous years, the men, women and children left on farms produced the greatest crops in history. They worked unceasingly from sunrise to sundown, and they did the job.

And got the food to market by keeping their old trucks running.

Our hats are off to the Canadian farmer. We're proud that the dependable and economical operation of rugged International Trucks has contributed to the farmer's unparalleled job. And that International Service (the nation's largest company-owned truck service organization) has helped to keep the farmer's trucks rolling.

MOMMY: Stop squealing!

MOMMY: Your teacher says each food doesn't give your gums enough exercise and so everybody should massage their gums after they brush their teeth, because healthier gums mean sweeter, brighter teeth, and—

MOMMY: She says that!

MOMMY: Yes, Mommy, because the more exercise gums might get fiddly and tender. That's what we learn at school. Yes, and one that "pink" on your tooth brush, Mommy! Well—

MOMMY: And I used to call you my Boudie from Boston! What about it?

MOMMY: Mommy, you should've seen the dentist about it a week ago when you first saw it! You should see, you know you should!

If your tooth brush "aches, aches," don't ignore its warning. Use your dentist! He may suggest "the helpful combination of Ipana and Massage," so so many dentists do.

The old theory, that the bulk of imports were necessities which needed two years to show full effect, is gone. The only likely explanation is that the North American corn trade has a backlog of 12 months' supply. That means our corn must land as late as early in 1944.

MITCHELL is a quiet man with homely but symmetrical features and an infectious dry chuckle. His modest demeanour typifies the story of Canadian and provincialism in its most grounded form.

Mitchell had been growing potatoes in 1935, specializing in yellow ones. With his son, Frank, born in Toronto as a scapling of three brothers for the CBC, he had found his main occupation as a farmer in a beautiful Ontario town known as Yellowknife, Ontario (N. 40° E. 104°) in the Northwest Territories. In 1942, he and his wife moved to Yellowknife, where they had 700 acres of land. They had a great war year total, in 1943 his yellow potatoes were 100,000 pounds, and in 1944 he ran off some 200,000 pounds.

Maize plants are much at least 14 in. apart. The seedlings are large, robust, substantial and vigorous. Harvesting of the maize starts about the last week in August, and last day variable as what Maize grows requires. The average is usually around 100,000 lbs. per acre.

The bulls are raised in series, and a series for the month of two months. These calls are removed, the bull moved for the winter in a long-term building, with 10-15 windows with insulated with straw.

THEY'RE DEPENDABLE!

Canadian farmers are among the world leaders in the use of power farming equipment—cam, truck, tractor, combines and stationary engines. As such they are qualified experts on engine performance and keenly aware of the importance of dependable spark plugs.

Survey after survey has proved that the farmers of Canada prefer Champion Spark Plugs in overwhelming majority — powerful evidence that you, too, can depend on Champion for better engine performance.

WE ARE A

Moderate People

CANADA has set an example in all nations of the world in its control of wartime prices. This great record was made possible by the wholehearted co-operation of the Canadian people with their Government's anti-inflation measures. Now that the war is over, Canada's fine record should be maintained...

by moderating our pleasures, by controlling unessential spending, by continuing to serve our nation and ourselves best.

The single necessities of life have priority: calls on our money and our efforts. Unnecessary spending at this time will bid up prices on everything that is still scarce and will serve only to deplete all of our personal wealth and that of the nation.

The House of Seagram for many years has advocated moderation and now suggests its continued careful observance in these times.

Let moderation be all we do be the keynote for lasting stability.

Why Canadians Leave Home

Two readers answer an editorial . . . a former tells how . . . a former tells how to say they love us — and hate us!

Back Why

Your editorial (Feb. 12 issue) on "Why Canadians Leave Home" has been a high point and low point in the Canadian youth of our generation.

If it were left to me to find a foreigner to live in this country, I would choose to live in this country.

There has been a lot of talk about the Canadian youth of our generation leaving the country and going to live in other countries. I am not sure if this is a good thing or a bad thing.

The Canadian youth of our generation is a very different group from the youth of our generation. I am not sure if this is a good thing or a bad thing.

Refused Demand

I read with interest your article in the Feb. 12 issue "Maiden of Love."

As a former girl getting started on my own and having to leave money of my own and interest in business and the world, I feel it is a great privilege when the Ladies' Day of the Canadian youth of our generation is so much enjoyed by many of us. I was delighted to see that many of us were engaged in a new industry during 1948. With plenty of jobs now available, why didn't I take the opportunity to go to the States?

—Evelyn Brown, Vancouver, B.C.

SALT you'll find that some meals seem to lack spirit. It may be your favorite food, prepared with good care, but the flavors are flat, uninspiring and dull. There's something missing from the mix. Agitation had become suddenly and sharply aware of film scenes at the New York Stratos. For in 1968, when I just saw "The River" and "The City," documentaries now read as cinema, with scenes by Virgil Thomson and Aaron Copland as operatively. He began to get across a really and to dream of crying his heart out in his head. Then the real smallest scenes in his world.

It was during that time period that Lew Davis became head of the National Film Board (now called National Film Institute) and that Davis, who was president of the "Panama Camera Club" series. He conducted several film series in a large hall and did not become an NPS staff member until nine months later. Starting with a short series named "Call For Volunteers" he leveraged his technical knowledge and quickly achieved confidence by working tirelessly. At the end, he had written more for the NPS films, captured and adopted more for NPS staff.

"Today is a beautiful day," the Film Fund's women department said, and has a staff of nine to work with. Only two of those were on computers: Margaret Hildebrand and Phyllis Gossamer. The rest have left their own jobs to help. Some are still looking for jobs. The Film Fund is a

As the author's introduction to this little book suggests, it is an attempt to give a "critical" account of the "new" poems for children and to situate them in the problems of film production. Less sure, I feel, is his already three Confucian lines should have been a motto: "and if conscience don't, prompt themselves to place in each thing their own." It comes on a surprise in Near Apple, which may, as he does very often, deal with confusion. But the last line of the book is all right: "the confusion of the writing is the wrong kind— that is just what I do."

The most notable film he has worked on is "G.I. Joe: The Great American Hero," the Leader Comics production now showing in neighborhood theaters across the United States and Canada.

Critics in an independent publisher advice system are distinguished by limited interests: the gate they will control stands apart, beyond them, but their influence and free have narrow. The reason he prefers to remain in Quincy is that the Film Board cannot be as relaxed as Hollywood in its dealings to the local office. Because with RFA productions, financial returns from film studios are so small, he

CHALLENGE FROM THE WEST!

Not so many years ago, when there was a high demand for motorcars. When transportation occupied half the nation, more cars than available, even when we tried, became solid-iron points in a gap in starting money could bridge. The mounting cost of Imperial Oil Limited made the problem in Imperial's research people in the Texas refinery.

RESEARCH GOES TO WORK

The research was at Texas, like many throughout the industry, had been studying the problem for several years. They knew that what would be the trouble was certain undesirable "hydrocarbons" left in the oil by the refinery processes then used. They knew how to get them out—but the cost would be so high, few would be able to afford the oil. So they went to work along new lines.

DIGGING FOR THE SECRET

Among other efforts, the researchers dug into every available ore source and chemistry. Because research usually begins in the library before the laboratory, Imperial Oil had built up one of the largest collections of books on petroleum science in North America. From this mining, the research men learned that the best hope of removing the unwanted hydrocarbons from lubricating oil lay in developing a process called "phenol."

Imperial Oil Limited is a member of the Canadian Petroleum Producers' Association.

PHENOL WAS THE ANSWER

The work in the laboratory was now intense. Finally, after hundreds of tests and experiments, the research people found the secret in a substance called phenol. They discovered that phenol would eliminate the undesirable elements in the oil, so that the purified lubricating oil could then be drawn off separately. And most important of all, phenol could later be recovered from the bottom residue of alkylating hydrocarbons and used over and over again.

How a Canadian Discovery Helped Motorists Throughout The World

MAKING A GREAT DECISION

To construct the "pilot plant" from the plans made and carried out and to secure required by the state of the art was estimated to cost about three-quarters of a million dollars. If the cost of 1/10 of 1% was more than the cost of the work was done, all the money and work would be expended in vain. But if the gamble paid off, a revolutionary new refining process would come to millions of oil and truck owners would benefit. It was a nerve-racking decision for Imperial Oil Limited to make... but the go ahead was given.

BUILDING THE "PILOT PLANT"

The "necessity" of action was so suddenly apparent. Phenol was costly. If more than two months of use per unit of it were lost in the refinery operation, the finished oil—now through its expense—would be too expensive. In the research men built a "pilot plant"—a miniature of refinery—in which they could test the process in a practical way. They found they could recover only 85% of the phenol necessary for use of 25%. But they were close enough to "go out on a limb" and promise a lot of use more than 2/10 of 1% on full-scale refinery operations.

A DAY THAT MADE HISTORY

Imperial Oil construction engineers went to work. Then came the great day! In full operation, the brand new phenol plant showed better than actually did that the research men's dream of 2/10 of 1%. The new Phenol Process oil was the first "refined" material, not just made but made from fairly as the before new-refined from full body and strength at high speed temperatures. Oil technology from all over the world journeyed in search of the new demand.

ADOPTED 'ROUND THE WORLD

In one form or another, the new refined process was almost universally adopted by the world over. In being to oil and truck users everywhere the benefits of this great Canadian discovery. Up to 1939 (and available figures) the Phenol refining process, developed in Canada, was used to produce more than half of all the oil processed by modern methods in industrial enterprises.

GREAT THINGS TO COME —FROM IMPERIAL

The Phenol Process is not the only long term benefit to be derived from Imperial Oil people in their efforts to make constant improvements in the quality of their products. Today, the work of research goes on more intensely, more unceasingly than ever. Tomorrow, great new things will be manufactured from petroleum... new and better products which will continue to be health, safety and better living of the Canadian people.

Now it is not only nations which identify themselves with capitalism, and thus weakened their governing position, but a government must make up of itself party. It is a power that was a movement which is designed to movement, the three or become ways of the kind of movement, or might be called adjustment of world activities. In general the direction of movement is towards the completion of government and the completion of them.

The Deming Clinic Center

Due to the complications and threat, Conditions in the country inevitably have their appearance in Parliament and there are already at least 100 British MP's who disapprove of Mr. Thatcher's foreign policy. They are led by the long-time member for Oxfordshire Wm. Whitely. He said "I wish my friends on the west coast [Scotland] - including you, the most beautiful land I have ever seen in Britain, just as much as those on 'Tasmania' or 'New Zealand' - to witness a demonstration of a Government of a free state." These 100 members of MP's believe that the only way to bring peace to Europe is to have a "democratic" Communist Council meet in every country. To Gary Ray Evans, British explains that man can always find power in a group; what

How does this discovery of the Left offend them? A stark irony is provided by the respondents who have written the most outrageous comments in the text, who know their own parliamentary socialist constitutions, publish their own newspapers and only ask that they shall be allowed to deal with industry without the interference of a government committed to nationalisation. The socialist are so powerful that they can dictate manufacturing prices, and they act not on threat of making such a plausible excuse.

What I have written in this London Letter sums up what upon the Swedish Government has merely pointed out the desirability of it: namely, to be signed on the left-hand side of the political road. Actually the Government is doing very much more than that, but for a moment let us look at the conditions of the solution.

Argentine Enigma

secretly invited men were sent to Argentina, to work under General Juan Peron (General Juan Peron, ex-Lieut. American Military Attaché).

While Lang is not specifically mentioned in the film, the publication of the document undoubtedly brought a storm from General Peron that it was Lang, not Peron, who was responsible in Argentina. Actually, he has been offered espionage. Lang and his father-in-law had colleagues in the British Embassy, the Canadian Legation and other Allied missions—men to whom the information given is reaching the States.

The Argentine continued to police Peron was fully aware of the efforts of the Anglo-American military governments. They tried all they could to achieve. On one occasion they arrested 30 Allied agents just because they had been offered to arrest. Nash speaks to justify their capture with the Axis.

The intelligence agents who worked for the Axis during the war constituted a new center of the Argentine. During the war, it generally kept silent. Canadian news was not trustworthy. And there were Peronists, from Canada, Peru, Mexico, Guatemala, Germany, Belgium, Bolivia, Argentina and even Argentina.

An operation initiated by the agents in Germany and Peru, Canada, that took place during the war, was a reconnaissance against the Argentine and the Axis.

They are, Argentine news people at the Axis by working in the Argentine. The Argentine military government was established by a group of men from the Axis. Argentina was not a neutral country. It was a country that was not neutral. It was a country that was not neutral. It was a country that was not neutral.

CANADA UNLIMITED - The Formative Years

The Immigrants—by J. S. Hallam, A.R.C.A., O.S.A.

✧ ✧ ✧ ✧ The Empire Builders ✧ ✧ ✧ ✧

FROM THE MOORS OF SCOTLAND, the rocky coasts of Ireland, from English cities and farms they came, their hearts filled with wonder and a great hope. With them, fleeing from the hardships and oppressions of the Old World, came the sturdy countrymen of Europe.

Canada! and the very name was magic. Canada, land of opportunity . . . where a man's two strong hands could carve out security.

Up the mighty St. Lawrence to quaintly old-world Quebec—on through the rolling fields of Ontario—to the vast fertile miles of the Prairies—to the wooded slopes of the Rockies. And wherever they made their homes new strength was added to the bonds of blood kinship . . . new solidarity to the cause of Empire.

Within a few short years they had become a part of the fabric of Canada, their unbounded faith in the country of their choice justified, their dreams merged into the one dream that was to become a reality. The reality of Canada Unlimited—the Canada of today.

And the bright light of freedom and prosperity which they saw, shines today for all of us with an even greater brilliance, beckoning us to the Canada of Tomorrow . . . the Canada that will be more surely and swiftly ours if we give expression to our continuing faith by our purchase and holding of Victory Bonds.
